That the Romans ruled in Britain before the Anglo Saxons invaded. That Highwaymen were typically men on horseback who hold up travellers at gunpoint to rob them. 	In Roman times some of the common crimes were of theft, murder, arson and rebellion. The punishments for these varied between beatings, amputations execution or exile. In Tudor times most crime was theft of money, food or belongings however the punishments were severe and designed to warn others not to commit similar crimes. These punishments included the stoning, branding, drowning and the stocks. In Tudor times there were still no police. Crime—mainly stealing—was widespread, as many poor people could not afford to pay for increasingly expensive food. New punishments were created to be even more terrifying than before e.g. beheadings, the ducking stool or burning at the stake. 	<table border="1"> <tr> <td>capital punishment</td> <td>Killing of the criminal</td> </tr> <tr> <td>corporal punishment</td> <td>Physically hurting the criminal</td> </tr> <tr> <td>justice</td> <td>Fair treatment</td> </tr> <tr> <td>trial</td> <td>The hearing and judgment of something in court.</td> </tr> <tr> <td>jury</td> <td>A body of people (typically twelve in number) sworn to give a verdict in a legal case on the basis of evidence submitted to them in court.</td> </tr> <tr> <td>treason</td> <td>A crime against the king or government</td> </tr> <tr> <td>vagrants</td> <td>People without a home</td> </tr> <tr> <td>hue and cry</td> <td>A loud cry to chase or catch a criminal during medieval times.</td> </tr> <tr> <td>tithing</td> <td>10 men from a community who are responsible for each other's behaviour</td> </tr> <tr> <td>amputation</td> <td>Cutting off limbs</td> </tr> <tr> <td>exile</td> <td>Being barred from your own country</td> </tr> <tr> <td>execution</td> <td>When your punishment is to be killed</td> </tr> <tr> <td>branding</td> <td>Having letters burnt onto your skin using a hot iron</td> </tr> <tr> <td>stocks</td> <td>A wooden device with foot and arm holes used as punishment</td> </tr> </table>	capital punishment	Killing of the criminal	corporal punishment	Physically hurting the criminal	justice	Fair treatment	trial	The hearing and judgment of something in court.	jury	A body of people (typically twelve in number) sworn to give a verdict in a legal case on the basis of evidence submitted to them in court.	treason	A crime against the king or government	vagrants	People without a home	hue and cry	A loud cry to chase or catch a criminal during medieval times.	tithing	10 men from a community who are responsible for each other's behaviour	amputation	Cutting off limbs	exile	Being barred from your own country	execution	When your punishment is to be killed	branding	Having letters burnt onto your skin using a hot iron	stocks	A wooden device with foot and arm holes used as punishment	0 Christ born 43-410 Romans in Britain 410- 1066 Anglo Saxon era 1485- 1603 Tudor era 1714- 1830 Georgian era 1837-1901 Victorian era 1929 Leamington opens 2020 Today BC AD

Interesting Facts	Public executions were extremely popular and people would wait for hours to watch them, often taking their children with them!  By the late 18th century, punishment for treason became very rare, but the official punishment for treason remained death until 1998! Highwaymen became a greater threat during the Georgian periods. Britain still did not have a police force, so it was difficult to catch highwaymen. There were large rewards for their capture. Most highwaymen were eventually caught and hung. As the Victorians had a police force, they were able to control crimes better. During the Victorian period, prison became the main form of punishment for lots of different crimes.
